BIOGRAPHIES

Clint Thayer - a professional photographer in Madison, Wisconsin, Clint was raised on the coast of Lake Erie in the small town of Lakeside, Ohio, surrounded by rocky shorelines and powerful storms. Majoring in computer science, Clint studied photography at The College of Wooster in Ohio. He also studied under Richard Clarkson in the Summit Series of Sports Photography at the U.S. Olympic National Training Center in Colorado Springs. Clint is a member of the American Society of Media Photographers. He is the staff photographer and videographer for the UW Department of Medicine.

Austin Cope - A native of East Troy in southeastern Wisconsin, Austin, who studied anthropology at UW-Milwaukee, turned his fascination with people and culture into a passion for photography. After buying his first camera as a graduation gift to himself, he plunged into learning via YouTube and books about photography. He shot photos endlessly, didn't sleep much, and continues to nurture passion for the craft. He is lead instructor for the Focal Flame educational program, teaching classes and lessons.

Katie Richard - Growing up in a small town on the Wisconsin/Upper Michigan border, Katie picked up her mom's point and shoot camera in high school and never put it down. She studied photography at Concordia University WI (in partnership with the Milwaukee School of Art and Design) and Northern Michigan University, covering home games for the Athletic Department at NMU. She has interned with the Madison Mallards summer collegiate baseball team and the Green Bay Packers.
